LAYCOCK HEADS CHAMBER BOARD

Huelyn Laycock, member of West Texas State College staff, was named president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce board of directors Monday night as that group met in the commissioners court room.

Laycock is director of public services at the college.

Laycock is a native of Collingsworth County. He is a 1940 graduate of West Texas State.

He has taught in public schools across the area for the past several years and came to

HUELYN LAYCOCK

West Texas State in his present capacity in 1960. He was school superintendent at White Deer before coming here.

Laycock has always been active in civic affairs of the communities in which he has lived.

He served as head of the chamber's education committee during the past year.

Newly-elected board members attending their first meeting Monday night were Bill Wilson, R. E. Barnard, H. R. Fulton and Bill Davis.

Retiring members of the board include Jerry LaGrone, Joe Gidden, Dr. W. J. Wooten and Bruce Blackaby.

Board officers elected, other than Laycock, include H. R. King, vice-president; and Bill Davis, treasurer.

The board made final plans for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet scheduled for Jan. 17 at the college cafeteria.

Speaker for the occasion will be Charles Jarvis, a dentist from San Marcos.

Citizen of the year will be named at the banquet. A committee already has picked the person to receive this honor.

In other action, the board sat as city planning commission and approved unit No. 1 of Pondorosa Addition which is located east of the city.

Fire Truck Is Damaged

Canyon city fire truck received $150 to $200 damages to its engine, Tuesday noon when it answered a fire call to the Happy Elevator explosion.

City manager Bill York said the engine of the truck blew several cylinders and associated parts while assisting in putting out the fire at the elevator.

Through the efforts of the Randall Motor Company, the city had the fire truck back in operation within twelve hours of its breakdown.

Firemen from three towns, Happy, Tulia and Canyon battled this roaring elevator fire for two hours Tuesday. Three men were hospitalized as a result of the blast which touched off the blaze. The explosion shook the town of Happy about 11 o'clock. One man was blown from the building. Two were trapped half way up the 80-foot building but were rescued by firemen. (Photo By Troy Martin).

Two Men Have Narrow Escape From Building

BY TROY MARTIN

One man was fatally hurt and two others injured as a thunderous explosion ripped Happy Elevator about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Dead is Steve Huseman, about 50 years old.

Injured were Johnnie Phillips, 21; and Lawrence Webster, 31.

Huseman died at 9:45 o'clock Wednesday morning in Northwest Texas Hospital.

He was blown from the elevator building while the two others escaped the inferno which followed the blast only by dropping to a fireman's ladder from a 40-foot perch which the ladder was too short to reach.

Huseman died of severe head injuries. He also suffered burns. Funeral arrangements were not immediately known.

Phillips and Webster each suffered second and third degree burns about the hands and legs. Attendants at Neblett Hospital here described their condition as "satisfactory."

Pete Whitlow, one of the owners of the elevator, said the blast came about 11 o'clock.

Huseman was working the separator in the elevator pit. Whitlow rushed into the elevator looking for Huseman following the explosion. Huseman finally was found outside the building under some debris.

Whitlow said the man was found about 50 feet from the place he had been thought to be working.

Although Huseman was most seriously injured, Webster and Phillips probably had the most harrowing experience. They were in the elevator head house 80 feet above the ground.

They had been about to begin work on some elevator gates when the blast came.

"I think it was a dust explosion," said Webster from his hospital bed.

The two men, their eyes filled with dirt and dust, climbed out of the head house and down a 40-foot ladder to some overhead bins about 40 feet above the ground.

"How did you make it when you couldn't see?" Webster was asked.

"We had to," was his reply.

Webster said he was not aware whether the building was on fire at the time. "There was a lot of smoke," he observed.

Robert Lee, one of the coowners of the elevator, assisted in rescue operations.

"There wasn't much fire right after the explosion," he reported. "We probably could have controlled it right away if we'd had time, but we were busy getting the men down."

Lee said the rescue was a nightmare. He said the ladder would not reach the overhead bins so it was placed on top of a 12-foot shed overhanging from the elevator.

Lee's heart sank as he realized that even then the ladder would not reach the men. "It lacked about four feet," he observed.

The men had to hang from the bins and feel for the ladder with their feet. He estimated that the rescue took about 20 minutes.

Pete Whitlow was in the elevator office when the blast occurred. "It sounded like about 100 tons of dynamite," he declared.

He believes the explosion originated in the elevator pit. He said the elevator building "just collapsed."

"I was the first one in and I couldn't find Huseman." he related. "We found him under some debris about 50 feet from where we thought he had been

4-H Awards Presented

Thirty two Randall County 4-H boys and girls received medals Saturday night at the Annual Randall County 4-H Club Achievements and Awards Program.

More than one hundred and fifty 4-H Club members and their families were in attendence at the program which was held in the Randall County Junior Livestock Barn.

In addition to the awards, the group saw a color movie entitled "Follow the Bamboo" produced by the Farm and Ranch Department of KGNC Radio and TV and Taylor Evans Farm Stores, Inc. The movie, which was directed and narrated by Cotton Jonh, showed a group of Panhandle farmers and ranchers on a tour of the Orient.

Adult leaders were in charge of the building decorations and refreshments.

Gold Star awards, highest 4-H awards on the county level, were presented to Chester Hales, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe V. Hales, Route 1, Canyon, and to Cindy Gruner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gruner, Route 2, Canyon.

The awards were given to the youngsters for their general work on 4-H projects in Randall County.

CANYON HIT BY MISHAPS

A rash of traffic accidents hit Canyon during the week, according to city and state authorities.

Two accidents occurred Thursday of last week with a double accident happening Saturday morning on the expressway.

Two Canyon men and a girl were injured Thursday of last week at 5 p.m. in a traffic accident at the intersection of Fourth Avenue and Fifth Street.

Treated at Neblett Hospital for lacerations and bruises and released were Donaciano Montano, 20 years old, Michael Hernandez and Mamie Hernandez, 15, according to city police.

Investigating city police officer Raymond Reynolds said the accident occurred when a car driven by Montano hit the side of a pickup truck driven by Anton Hollenstein of Umbarger. Hollenstein was uninjured in the accident according to city police.

In another accident at 9:50 Thursday night, two Canyon men were injured at the intersection of Fourth Avenue and Sixteenth Street.

City police said the pair were treated at Neblett Hospital and released. They were Ruben Garcia, 17 years old and Pedro Martinez, 26, according to city police records.

City policeman Ray Reynolds said the car operated by Garcia was stopped at an intersection traffic light when it was struck in the rear by a pickup truck driven by Carrol Anderson Pool, 26, also of Canyon. City police described damage to both vehicles as heavy.

The third accident of the week occurred Saturday morning when a Globe-News truck was involved in a double accident on the Canyon-Amarillo Expressway, according to highway patrol records.

The beginning of the double accident started when the Globe-News circulation truck left the road and hit two trees alongside the expressway. The driver was uninjured, according to highway patrol records.

According to highway patrol records, the second accident occurred fifteen minutes after the Globe-News crash when a north bound car attempted to pass the truck wreck and was sideswiped by a grain truck attempting to pass the car.

The car, driven by Mrs. Mary K. Swihart of Tucson, Arizona, received heavy damage to its left side, according to highway patrol records. There were no injuries reported.

The grain truck was driven by William Joe Snow, 30 of Amarillo, according to investigating highway patrolman Bob Rivers.

Canyon Firemen Battle Grass Blaze Saturday

Canyon volunteer firemen labored for more than an hour Saturday noon to control a fast spreading grass fire that threatened to engulf the city sewage plant and a farm house on the southeast city limits of Canyon.

City officials said that all available units of the Canyon fire department were called into action to contain the blaze which left a blackened strip of pasture for more than a mile bordering the east city limits.

Several times during the course of the blaze, tall stands of weeds threatened nearby houses when the weeds burst into flames. Quick acting city firemen, using fast moving brush fire techniques managed to keep the flames away from the houses.

City management foresight is credited with saving property owners from more serious damage as a result of the grass fire because of the 20 foot wide fire breaks the city had previously cut between the houses and high weeds bordering the city limits boundary.

At one point during the hot grass fire, several hogs were in danger from the burning grass and weeds surrounding their pens. Volunteer firemen rushed into the burning weeds around the pens and choused the hogs to the nearby creek.

Donnie Rogers, an employee for the city, was seen coming out of the smoking pens after the fire had passed by. Covered with ashes and smoky soot, Rogers was heard to say, "I had to carry a crippled hog in my arms all the way to the creek!"

Bill York, Canyon city manager warned trash burners to be careful with their fires. The recent cold snaps have killed the brush and grass in the pastures and open fields in and around the city, creating a fire hazard, he said.

Contract Let For Draperies

Goyne's of Amarillo was awarded the contract for installing draperies in Randall County court house.

The bid was awarded Monday at a regular meeting of commissioners court. Goyne's was among a dozen firms to submit bids for the job.

Some 650 yards of material will be used on the job.

The court voted to re-advertise for bids on some desks for the office of County Clerk Tommy Lair.

It was decided that no meeting of the court will be held next week. Swearing of officials will be held Jan. 2.

Defense Supplies Arriving

Canyon civil defense under the direction of the city fire department, has received the first shipment of supplies to be installed in the newly designated public fallout shelters in and around Canyon.

This first shipment includes several geiger counters which will be placed in each shelter. The geiger counters are used for the detection of radiation in the event of an atomic attack on this nation.

City fire captain Joe Rice said there will be one or two of these detection instruments in each of the public shelters in the area.

Canyon has participated in the national civil defense fallout shelter program by completing the first two of three plases in setting up these public shelters.

The supplying of these shelters with survival foods, medicines and equipment is the third step or phase of the program. City officials expect the shelters to be fully supplied and marked with identifying signs before next spring.

Vandalism Increasing Says York

Bill York, Canyon City Manager, said Monday that vandalism of city property is on the increase. City signs have been especially hard hit.

York said vandals have destroyed several city signs recently by bending the edges back and forth until they become illegible and useless.

He said the signs cost approximately five dollars each, but more than that is involved in the repair or replacement of each sign damaged by vandals.

York said the city will prosecute to the limits of the law, anyone caught damaging city property. He added that city and state laws prohibiting damage to city property call for fines of up to $200.

New Signs Installed

City of Canyon has the new street signs promised by the Canyon Lions Club.

Totaling 42 in all, the new signs have been installed by city street department crews at each intersection along fourth avenue from fourth street to 28th street at the eastern city limits and along 23rd street at each intersection from the south to north city limits.

In addition to the signs installed along the two main streets in Canyon, the two intersections on the south side of the square also received the new markers.

Set with black letters on a white background, the new street signs indicate the street and avenue number or name at each intersection.

Purchased by the Canyon Lions Club at a total cost of $537, the signs were installed on aluminum posts or on existing city light posts.

Three Hurt In Accident

A two-car accident Monday injured three persons at the intersection of Farm to Market 385 and Main Street of Wayside.

Injured and taken to Neblett Hospital for treatment was Percy Burk, 36, Artesia, New Mexico, driver of one of the cars. Burk's condition was listed as good at Neblett.

The driver of the other vehicle, Joe H. Hall, Lockney, was not admitted to Neblett. A passenger in the Hall car, H.C. Smith, 46, Tyler, was admitted for treatment and was listed. as being in good condition Wednesday morning.

PTA PROGRAM SET TONIGHT

"This Is Christmas," a choral pageant, is the annual Christmas production by the choral and speech departments of Canyon High School to be presented tonight at 7:30 at the PTA meeting in the high school auditorium.

The program will be given again tomorrow afternoon at 1:15 for the high school students. Both performances are open to the public.

The stage will show the enterior of a home, and speech students will portray a family, showing what happens to them on a typical Christmas Eve. The play on stage will be pantomimed, and members of the choir, which will be at the back of the auditorium, will sing selections (both solo and ensemble) to correspond with the action of the players. Three tableau scenes will be shown as part of the story.

Reggie Reeves will be the on-stage narrator.

The characters are Mother, Lynne Larson; Father, Jimmy Innes; Daughters, Sally Swatzell and Kay Nester; Sons, Neal Knighton and Harold Thompson. In Tableau A are the angel, Dina Kay Bond; and the three shepherds, John Cummins, Sam Cummins, and Elo Myers. Characters for Tableau B are the carolers, Sally Tippery, Mary Geromini, Ralph Irlbeck, and Claiborn Crain. In Tableau C are Mary, Mila Hernandez; Joseph, Rob Barnard; and the three shepherds.

The pageant is a Fred Waring presentation, with lyrics by Wihla Hutson and Bates Burt, and music by Alfred Burt.

The program is under the direction of Gene Murray, choir director, assisted by Elva Siburt, student teacher; and Mrs. Lee Foster, speech instructor, assisted by Erick Wertenberger, student teacher.

working.'

Whitlow said there was about 35,000 bushels of grain in the building in which the explosion occurred. It was frame and sheet iron. It was flanked by eight concrete bins holding about 20,000 each.

The company also has five steel tanks.

Whitlow said he could not even begin to estimate the damage done by the blaze. It is expected to run well over five figures.

The injured were taken to hospitals in a LaGrone ambulance.

"I certainly want to thank the people who brought the ambulances," Whitlow declared. "They were right here."

For a time a second explosion was feared. Officers, state and local, warned people away from the elevator, which by then was a roaring furnace.

Fire departments from Canyon and Tulia assisted the Happy Fire Department in fighting the blaze. The Canyon emergency unit stood by to render aid if needed.

Dimmitt Fire Department called to offer help but was not needed.

Heat from the burning elevator was intense. A passing passenger train stopped and the engine was used to move a string of box cars out of danger.

Thermal currents above the fire carried smoldering embers high into the air. Spectators had holes burned in hats, shirts and other apparel.

Whitlow said Commodity Credit Corporation probably will investigate the fire. He thinks those investigators may come up with the exact cause of the blaze.

Robert Lee is a son-in-law of Whitlow. Whitlow's son, Dale, is the third partner in the concern.

MRS. RUSSELL CHAPIN

Dorothy Jean Brown Marries Dr. Russell Chapin, Dec. 15

In a double ring ceremony performed on December fifteenth at seven-thirty in the evening in the Joseph Hill Chapel on the campus of West Texas State College, Dorothy Jean Brown became the bride of Dr. Russell W. Chapin. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ellis A. Brown of Canyon, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. G. V. Chapin of Kasson, Minnesota.

Bob Wear, minister of the Canyon Church of Christ, read the marriage vows before an altar flanked by red poinsettas and baskets of white mums, and centered with candelabra entertwined with holly and evergreens. Pews were marked by candles and flocked evergreens.

Mrs. Meade Humphries, organist, played traditional nuptial music, as well as the processional and recessional marches. A quartet consisting of Ronnie Throneberry, Danny Parker, Joe Godfrey and Larry Kingsley sang "Whither Thou Goest", "Because" and "Be With Us Lord."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight tone brocade satin, created for her while she was in Hong Kong, and matching brocade slippers. The fitted bodice was fashioned with long sleeves and high neckline. Un-pressed pleats in the skirt back, lent fullness that formed a chapel-length train. Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion fell from a matching brocade pillbox hat. She carried a bridal bouquet centered with a white orchid, and containing a small Bible made of pearls.

Mrs. Avalon Harvey sister of the bride, and Mrs. Virginia Moseley served as attendants. They wore formal gowns of red brocade and carried cascade arrangements of small mums, centered with two large mums and a single taper in the center. Sonja Jean Harvey, 4 year old niece of the bride, wore a street length dress and red velvet slippers. She wore a halo of white carnations and carried a bouquet of small white mums and holly with red berries.

Dr. Larry Celmer of San Gabriel, California, was best man, and groomsmen and ushers were Jerry Mosely of Boulder, Colorado, and Melvin and Wilbur Leavitt.

Following the ceremony, a buffet dinner and reception was held in the Church of Christ Bible Chair.

The couple will be at home after January 1, 1963, at Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

The bride, a graduate of the last high school class of the West Texas State Home Demonstration School, also graduated from W. T. S. C. She taught school in Germany for two years, and this past year, taught in Turkey and Pakistan. She has completed a trip around the world, including visits to thirty-five countries.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Kasson High School, attended Rochester Junior College. He graduated from the College of Veterinary Medicine, Iowa State University, at Ames Iowa, and is presently serving with the United States Air Force. He has recently completed a tour of duty in Pakistan.

Pre-nuptial courtesies honoring the bride included a shower in the home of Mrs. Wesley Cox on December 6. Hostesses were Mmes. Wayne McNeill, Hampton Lisle, Joe Abbott, Bill Sternenberg, T. F. McKinney, J. B. Roberts, Nell Sheets, Edna Duncan, Ed Bourn, Clarence Echols, J. E. Miller, D. J. Maynard , and Lorena Piper.

Following the morning wedding rehersal, the bridegroom's parents entertained at a brunch held in the Rose Room of the Amarillo Air Force Base Officers Club. Tables were decorated with red candleholders containing white tapers, and identical miniature candleholders with small tapers, marked each guest's place.

Around The Town

Guests at the lovely party Willie and Arch Hunsley held in their magnificent new home on Sunday evening, could never have guessed the terrible strain under which their hosts were laboring. Willie's nephew, Jairell Dowell of Amarillo, was enroute home from Yale for the Christmas holidays when he was critically injured in an automobile accident. Sunday, the day of the party, Hubert Dowell, the boy's father had taken a hospital plane to pick up his injured son, and all during the party hours, Willie was awaiting word of his condition. As we go to press, Jairell is in the hospital in Amarillo suffering from head and leg injuries and still in serious condition.

Already visitors are arriving for Christmas with their families in Canyon. Donna Wilson's mother, Mrs. Ross McCallister from Springfield, Ohio is here.

Lt. and Mrs. Byron Ford, visited his grandmother, Mrs. E.C. Penick Sr., for a brief time during his leave from Ft. Riley, Kansas. Byron is a W.T. graduate, and his wife, Beth, worked for Southwestern Public Service while he was in school here.

Opal Pond's many friends are happy to have her home from Houston and looking so well. We understand that daughter Lynn was mighty happy to be in Canyon schools again.

TASTY GIFT IDEAS

While food is a great part of the family Christmas observance, many of us overlook the fact that food products offer an endless variety of holiday gift possibilities.

Cheese, of course, is an old favorite. Ready-made gift packages are available, or one can make up a variety package, placed in a wooden basket or on a small chopping board, or surrounding a cheese knife.

Baskets of colorful fruits, long a gift favorite, may also be "ordered" or prepared at home. It's much more fun to prepare, using as a final touch unshelled nuts of the type or types available locally.

Vegetables may also be used—as decorations for a presentation of canned fancy vegetables—artichoke hearts, asparagus, picked onions, etc. Good gift for a gourmet.

And, in the meat line, who wouldn't appreciate the gift of a baked ham?

Bryan if she and Manley were going skiing with a crowd two weekends ago, she replied that they, with the Bill Sternenbergs and their children, and the Bryan children, it was already a crowd.

Speaking of crowds skiing, we understand that a large group of Canyon residents will spend Christmas on a ski trip, and will take along a trailer to carry the gifts. If there are any photographers in the group, we hope to have some pictures when they return.

Oscar and Patsy Griffin, (he is the former editor of the Canyon News whose paper in Pecos broke the Billy Sol story) are the parents of a new daughter.

Mary Bailey is in Canyon, from Ramona, Calif., along with son Lee, his wife and fifteen month-old daughter. If you ask about the baby, Mary will happily show you a picture, and truly, she does look like a doll.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Briggs, and Mrs. A.A. Clark, had as their guest, Mrs. Brigg's and Mrs. Clark's sister and her husband, the C.L. Sumners of Ft. Worth. They brought with them three pounds of Blue Bonnet seed which they gathered from their yard, and planted it on the sides of hillsides in Palo Duro Park. Also, Mrs. Sumner donated a doll quilt to the Museum, for use in the cradle. The quilt pieced from velvet and silk, had been made for Mrs. Sumner by her grandmother in 1902.

The Donald Kievits and three of their children have left today to spend Christmas at West Point with son Don, who is spending his plebe Christmas there. Know they will be a welcome sight.

This writer will be in Alabama with her family this time next week going by train or car, depending on whether the chicken pox at our house heals or not. Consequently, Around The Town will be absent from next week's paper, and with it my opportunity to wish you all a joyous Christmas and a happy 1963. Hope you will let us know of your visitors and trips when we all return to normal after the holidays. Merry Christmas!

Beta Sigma Phi Holds Christmas Meet Hears Decorator, Mrs. Maureen Jordan

Chi Upsilon, Beta Sigma Phi, held its regular meeting and Christmas party Wednesday night, December 12th, in the girl Scout House.

Mrs. Elmer Clement, president called the meeting to order with the members standing and repeating the Opening Ritual in unison. Roll call followed.

Canned goods and other essentials were brought by members to be taken by the Service Committee to a needy family at Christmas time.

The first pledge training meeting for new pledges was scheduled for the first week in January.

A special committee was appointed to meet with the Girl Scout leaders for the purpose of furthering aid to them, and also to set up a later program on the aims and purposes of scouting on January 23rd.

Mrs. Troy Jordan was in charge of the program for the evening, and had as her special guests her mother, Mrs. Juanita Jones, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Maureen Jordan, both of Amarillo. Mrs. Maureen Jordan presented the program which was entitled "Your Own Home."

Mrs. Jordan, who is a decorating consultant for Fedway, Amarillo, stressed that decorating should express your own ideas, not someone else's; you should take into consideration the activities to take place in each room; color schemes carried out in decorating accessories; and the fact that furniture trends can be mixed to make for more interesting conversation pieces in the home-- You should do what suits you, and not what someone else has done. "You are yourself."

The gift exchange by secret pals followed the program.

Members present for the Christmas meeting were: Mrs. Joe Abbott, Mrs. Jack Berry, Mrs. Elmer Clement, Mrs. Roy Francis, Mrs. Gene Golson, Mrs. Bob Henry, Mrs. Jerry Johnigan, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Bill Mayfield, Mrs. Clifton Newberry, Mrs. Doug Rittenberry, Mrs. Allen Simpson, Mrs. Ben Wade, Mrs. Charles Nester, Mrs. Robert Brotherton, Mrs. Virgil Slentz, Mrs. Harold Dillehay, Mrs. Wayne Turley, Mrs. Leonard Graves, Mrs. Jim Marshall, and Misses Betty Sue Patterson and Virginia Rossiter.

Hostess serving dips, chips, and party punch were Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Turley.

The membership repeated together the Closing Ritual at the close of the meeting.

Seventeen Eagles Win All- District Honors

Canyon Eagles football players won seventeen of forty-six positions on the annual 2AA All-District Football Team.

The team is chosen by the high school football coaches of the district from the best high school football players in the district.

Three of the seventeen Canyon players were chosen by unanimous agreement of all the district football caoches. No other high school won this distinction, according to Eagle coach, Jeep Webb.

"We felt like all of our boys did a good job and it is hard to pick out any one particular player as being the best on the team," Webb said.

Webb said that Harry Lisle has won a place on the all-district team since he was a sophomore.

Webb said the Eagles have an eight win, three loss record for the 1962 football season. They won the district high school championship, he said. This was the first time the Eagles have won the championship since 1956, he added.

Speaking about next year's competitions, Webb said the Eagles lost 13 seniors this year. All the CHS players chosen for the all-district team except Eddie Poole were seniors, he said. Webb added that there should be about seven returning lettermen to the Eagles football team next year.

Webb said that district players chosen for the all-district team are as follows:

Along The Sideline

by Troy Martin

We have never enjoyed a football season as much as this one. As usual, we arrive at the end of the season a little saddened because there are some boys we learned to appreciate who will not be wearing WT's livery next fall.

Some of the boys will be going on to play pro ball. Some of them will be finding jobs next June and will become spectators instead of participants in sports events.

We've had a fine time traveling with the boys. As far as we know, The Canyon News is the only weekly newspaper anywhere that sends a reporter along with a college football team.

Our biggest kick of the season was at Tempe when Joe Kerbel had it out with a hostile crowd. There's no thrill on earth for a newspaperman like being on the spot with a camera when spot news is breaking.

The thrill is magnified a hundredfold when he is in such a situation and there's not a competitor in sight. When we shot the picture of Joe at that point we knew that if the film held together 'til we got back to Texas we'd have one of the season's newsiest pictures.

We held our breath as we applied the chemicals to that roll of celluloid. We breathed a sigh of relief when the negative came sharp and clear.

For a weekly sportswriter, it is an equal thrill to get a story first going up against daily competition. We got a tip that the Sun Bowl prospects had jelled on a Tuesday.

We refused even to think about it until Wednesday at 11 a.m., the day we go to press. At 11 sharp, we began making long distance phone calls.

We confirmed the tip. It was a banner story for us, though it might have been only routine for a daily. We tensely awaited delivery of the afternoon daily that day and found we were in the clear with an even break cinched.

When our daily paper was thrown on our porch next morning we were waiting for it and there wasn't a hint. We were in the clear with a beat.

Like we say, for a big city sportswriter it would have been routine but for us, it was a big thrill.

We never pass up a tip and won't. We called the athletic director at Arkansas to check on a tip that WT might be playing the Razorbacks some time in the future. What we learned was rather negative but what a story it would have been if it had checked out! So we'll keep on making those phone calls.

We'll be asking Athletic Director Frank Kimbrough and President James P. Cornette soon for a lash on the cash taken in at Buffalo Bowl this season. We'll bet it's a record.

While we're at it, we hope to find out the financial status of the stadium. We had planned to take care of these chores this week but just didn't have time. We'll get to it a little later.

Eagles Drop Dimmitt Five

Canyon Eagles varsity basketball team whipped the Dimmit high school varsity Tuesday night to the tune of 53 to 47.

Eagles coach Alan Simpson said it was a good show, especially since his two top scorers were not up to par in the game due to illness.

Bobby Evans, junior guard lit up the show with his fast scoring. Coach Simpson said Evans "really came through" for the Eagles by scoring 18 points in the game-16 of these points were in the last half, Simpson said.

Don Breitling got home with the bacon to the tune of 12 points.

This makes the Eagles sitting up with a 7 win-6 loss season to date. They play Borger at CHS Friday. The first game will be at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity game at 8 p.m.

The Canyon Eagles girls varsity was beaten 60 to 39 by the Dimmit girls at the Tuesday night competitions. Kaydean Barnard scored 18 points for the Eagles and Andy Lair got 14.

Pistol Pete Named Top By Raiders

Pistol Pete Pedro of the West Texas State Buffaloes, Sun-Bowl Bound team has just been named to Texas Tech's All-Opponent team which was dominated by the Southwestern Conference's schools.

Pedro was voted by the Texas Tech Red Raiders' team the toughest back they played all year according to the 61 points garnered in comparison to the 31 received by Texas University's Tommy Ford.

In fact, Pedro got more votes than any back mentioned. TT's all-opponent quarterback was Arkansas' Billy Moore with 45 votes and the fullback was Texas Christain University's Tommy Crutcher.

Of a possible 70 votes, Pedro managed 27 in the Outstanding Back category which was won by Moore with the other 33 votes. Moore also won the Outstanding Player award with 11 of a possible 35 votes.

Pedro was the lone West Texas State player to receive mention from the Red Raiders. Texas and Arkansas each placed three men on Tech's all-opponent team. They finished in that order in the tough Southwest Conference.

Buffaloes Fall Victim To Two Indian Forays

BY MIKE MOON

Two hostile bands of Indians pulled sneak attacks on the West Texas State Buffalo basketball team as Midwestern and McMurry sent WT to its third and fourth straight losses in succession.

Last Monday at Wichita, the Buffs fell to Midwestern's Indians 81-77 decision to the unbeaten McMurry Indians on Tuesday at Abeline.

The Buffaloes meet Idaho State University at home at the WT Field House Saturday night at 7:30 in their last home game of the 1962 season. Dec. 27-29, WT will journey to Shreveport, Louisiana, for the Gulf Coast Classic Tournament before returning home once again for a Jan. 5 date with the strong University of New Mexico quintet.

West Texas held a large 13-point margin over the McMurry team at one time in the fourth quarter but, with eight minutes gone in the final stanza, the Indians fought back to a 67-61 deficit and then tied the game 69-69 with 5:38 left to play.

Scottie Pierce and Sonny Blankenship combined for five points and a 74-71 lead with 2:45 left. However, McMurry again rose to the occasion and forged ahead to stay 79-75 with :30 remaining to be played.

Pierce paced the Buffs in the scoring columns with the game's top total of 25 points while teammates Frank Schaffer and Vernon Welch hit 18 points each. McMurry only used five players throughout the game and all five scored in doubel figures.

Schaffer, taller than Pierce by an inch, inched Pierce out in the rebounding contest 15-14 as the Buffs took down the majority of the rebounds. McMurry could only manage 32 to the Buffs 47.

In the Midwestern game Monday night at Wichita Falls, the two teams stood tied at 38-38 at the halftime and 68-68 at the end of regulation play in WT's closest game of the year.

The Buffs steady nemesis this year, fouls plagued them again as both Frank Schaffer and Scottie Pierce fouled out leaving WT without a tall post man. Schaffer left the game with 2:25 left in the game and Pierce held out until three minutes deep in the overtime period which spelled disaster for the Buffs who absorbed their fourth defeat in five outings.

Scoring-wise, West Texas did a good job by placing four players in the double figures column. Vernon Welch, 6-0 Sophomore from Borger, led all scorers with 19 points while Schaffer hit 18, Pierce 14, and Sonny Blankenship, 5-10 senior chaptain, 12 points.

Midwestern's highflying John Henry Young shared scoring honors for the game with Welch with 19. The Indians also had four players score in the double digits.

The Buffaloes outshot the Indians from the field but the careful playing of the Midwestern five allowed the Buffs a mere eight points via charity shots. However, the rough-playing Buffs gave up 25 points to Midwestern from the free throw line for the deciding factor of the game in the overtime period.

The loss marked the third straight loss on the road for the Buffs.

Hilltop Views

About this time in every even-numbered year my mind turns, more or less automatically, toward Austin and the Texas legislature. In less than a month we shall have a new Governor, Lieut. Governor, Attorney General, and other state administrative officers, as well as many new legislators.

In view of the fact that, as pointed out in last week's article, increase in the costs of state and local governments have far outstripped, percentagewise, the increase in the cost of the federal government since World War II, it is well for us to examine some of the facts and factors in that connection.

One thing that accounts for this near startling increase of costs at state and local levels is the fact that under the influence of special interests at the state capital state functions have been denied necessary means to develop and maintain a creditable standard of service. In recent years the public has become aware of the fact that money spent on education is an investment, not an expense. Similarly in other areas of public service. It has finally dawned upon the people of this state that our eelemosynary institutions are below a decent civilized standard and that vast sums of money will be necessary to bring them up to a creditable level. Rapidly increasing population is flooding our public schools and institutions of higher learning with students, making necessary huge investments in educational plants and instructional pesonnel.

Besides these changing conditions the state's rapid industrialization has created a home market for many kinds of scientific employees and office workers. This need for more and better educated scientists was tremendously augmented by Russia's Sputnik and space explorations--this, of course, for the whole nation as well as for Texas.

Finally it dawned upon many of our political leaders that when our people could not get from the state what they needed for their own state and local institutions, they would turn to the federal government for relief. The conviction spread like wild fire that if Texas did not want to lose control of her own affairs to the federal government she would better take better care of them.

Under the impact of these and other factors Texas began about 1947 to take greater interest in her own institutions. Well do I remember that in that year, my last as president of West Texas State, I obtained by far the largest appropriation ever, up to that time. I was almost shocked with surprise when the legislature appropriated nearly as much money as I had asked for--an unprecedented liberality. It was in that same year that the people of Texas authorized a constitutional amendment that made possible vast expansion of college and university plants.

But if the size of the appropriation of 1947 was shocking, present-day budgets are staggering. For example, the Dallas News of December 14 editorially asserts that "the Texas Legislature in January will face requests for the following increases. (over the current budgets.) Public schools $95,000,000, higher education $61,700,000, public welfare $38,000,000, highways $89,000,000, health and hospitals $35,000,000"--a total increase over 1961-63 of $318,700,000.

The Dallas News (usually a very conservative if not reactionary publication in matters that do not immediately help Dallas) points out that there may be some gravy in these figures since some state agencies pad their budgets, they say, so as to be able to absorb a few cuts, but surprisingly enough the News seems to think that most of the above figures represent legitimate demands.

To quote: "It will take $33,000,000 to finance increased enrollments at 20 state colleges in the next two years;---

"Governor-elect John Connally, education authorities of the state and even the most-down-to-earth business men now recognize that Texas must invest more in public and in privatley supported higher education in the years ahead.---

"There must be improvement in quality, a sharp rise in graduate training and research facilities to meet the scholastic competion of such centers as New England, the Middle West and California--facilities to keep in Texas the bright brains that industry needs and to attract others so that this state can advance in the space age.---"

It is gratifying that the Dallas News, some of our great industrialists, and many of our educators are beginning to recognize the practical value of more and more education to our expanding industry and our conquest of space.

The editorial here cited would be more effective with some of us if it had made a comparable plea for an educational program that would lift our cultural level equally as much as is contemplated for the scientific, technical, and industrial development of our state.

The moral and spiritual climate of Texas and our nation is not sufficiently conducive to the maintenance of a free society. All lovers of liberty who understand its implications recognize the practical necessity for a culture based upon integrity and virtue more than upon military power and its material symbols. Let us hope that those who mold and direct our educational system will not forget that, essentially, freedom is a product of intellectual, moral, and spiritual achievement and that it cannot survive on the basis of scientific knowledge and political power unsupported by highly cultural attainment.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

We understand that Congressman Morris K. Udall of Arizona set out in The New Republic recently to prove that "creeping socialism hasn't crept very far."

Evidently Congressman Udall has not seen the Employer's Tax Guide for 1963 published by the Treasury Department. Social security welfare tax is being upped one percent to 7 1/4 percent.

Leaders of both parties agree that if the social legislation proposed by the administration is passed by Congress, the social security take may rise well above 10 percent within the next few years.

Could be Mr. Udall is right, Maybe it's not creeping, could be galloping.

To find that socilaism and communism are kissing cousins one has only to turn to the dictionary. Both are theories of government under which the means of production are owned by government.

Using the US post office as an example of socialism is not a valid argument. The post office department is not an instrument of production. It was established as a service and could and should be financially supported by those who use it.

We have long advocated that the sender of every piece of mail pay its freight to its destination. Yes, we believe newspapers should pay their way too.

Government roads and even national defense have been cited as examples of socialism. Possibly they fall within the definition. However, they also fall within the authority of the Constitution which need not be stretched out of shape to provide that authority.

Farmer Schaeffer is sore at the administration. "I don't like what they did to Adlai and I'm sore at them," Farmer told us Monday. We never thought we'd see the day.

We're waiting to see what H. M. Baggerly of Tulia will be saying about the Stevenson story this week. H. M. has an autographed picture of Adlai hanging in his office.

Huelyn Laycock has been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce. Huelyn, who is a member of the West Texas State staff, has been head of the education committee for the past year.

The program of his committee has been successful. We hope the Chamber will enjoy a year just as successful under his leadership.

As head of the education committee, Huelyn largely was responsible for the Chamber's role in bringing groups of professional people such as bankers, newspaper people, high school principals and school counselors here for a look at our campus.

We were looking through some of our old files last week and found that the people of Canyon anted up $100,000 to bring West Texas Normal College here back in 1909 when a dollar was a dollar.

This young man is the pride and joy of the Paris household. He is the 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Paris. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Latham of Canyon and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. J. E. Hill of Seminole, Okla.

MoreHonor Heaped On Jerry Logan

More post-season honors have been heaped upon Jerry Logan, football player deluxe for the West Texas Buffs during the 1962 season. Logan was recently named as a halfback on the South team in the Senior Bowl and was also given All-America honors.

Logan will play in the Senior Bowl Jan. 5 at Mobile, Alabama. This game is a pro-sponsored and coached affair with Coach Webb Eubank of the Baltimore Colts acting as Logan's coach. The Colts are the NFL's team that drafted Logan. The game will be nationally televised.

This game will be one the first, and for some, the last, professional playing experience in football. The pros give each player on the losing team $600 and each member of the winning team receives $800 for participating. Logan will be flown immediately from El Paso and the Sun Bowl to Mobile where he will work out and vie for a starting position in the Senior Bowl.

The Williamson Rating System also recently announced that Logan has been selected as an All-American grid player on the selection committee's 33-man team. Logan was the lone player from this area to be named on the team with teammate Pete Pedro receiving Honorable Mention.

WHOSE BIRTHDAY?

The heat is on. The hectic pace which makes many an American home a madhouse during the weeks before Christmas has started.

Shopping, wrapping, and mailing; cards, ribbons, and stickers; cleaning, and baking; plans, parties, and programs -it's the old story over again.

The world is getting ready for a birthday, but thousands have no idea whose birthday it is; and what is worse; many of them will be too busy to find out.

Against this increasing tendency to secularize the birthday of the Savior, the Christian Church must continue to cry out. Christmas is the birthday of the Son of God.

"Unto us a Child is born; unto us a Son is given. . .and His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, the Mighty God, the everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace." Isaiah 9:6.

"Unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord." Luke 2:11.

Those two birth announcements are the believer's source of spiritual joy as he prepares to celebrate the birthday of his Lord.

Christmas is the birthday of the World's Redeemer. Let us keep it that. Let us crowd our Christian churches with festival throngs. Let us make the welkin ring with jubilant hymns and joyful carols. Let us worship at the manger bed.

In that way, and in no other, will we be able to rescue Christmas from those influences which would make of it a pagan holiday.

Will the Christ of Christmas find you celebrating His Birthday? Or will He find you celebrating? Decide now that yours will be truly a Christian Christmas. If you have no church home, we invite you most heartily to join us at our services.

Prairie Wildlife

The cold weather has finally come. This is good news to the many quail hunters in these parts. The weather has been warm (part of the time) the brush high and the birds slow to show themselves.

Many of the local boys said they have had to really get in there and beat the brush even to find any birds. Those fortunate enough to have good bird dogs haven't been a whole lot better off because of the multiplicity of green undergrowth. Seems the green things tend to distract the dogs with alien smells.

That's all gone, for this winter at least, because the last few cold snaps have laid low all but the very hardiest of brush in the Panhandle.

Dr. Busteed, out at the college, said he is really looking forward to the coming Christmas holidays because they will give him time to work with his dogs in the field.

Not to reflect on the other ways to enjoy the great outdoors, but Dr. Busteed is our kind of sportsman. He says he hunts a little but spends as much time training his dogs and taking photographs as he does hunting. That sounds good to us, especially when the go get'em type of hunting is so expensive and time consuming these days. If a man gets a little benefit from just being out there or from the picture angle, he is set up to get more fun from the outdoors than the old boy who only enjoys hunting. Every man to his own poison. We like it all.

Dr. Busteed also said that he has a couple of young untried dogs that show promise. He plans to spend some time with them during this vacation to work the kinks out and make them into full bird getters. Says he plans to hunt around Higgins, Glazier and Turkey for part of the vacation and then spend some time around Miami, Matador and Estiline. That sounds like a good deal. We hope he does all right with the new dogs.

Lots of the boys say the weather is finally right for good quail hunting. Cold snaps have cut down on the green growth and underbrush and have matted the tall grasses down in many areas making it harder for the little speedsters to hide.

Dr. Busteed says the cold weather has a stimulating effect on quail, causing them to move around more and also raising their metabolism so they give off a stronger scent for the dogs to latch onto. It all adds up to better hunting--especially over the Christmas holidays.

Please don't make it a sorry holiday by being careless or letting anyone else be careless with a gun. A face full of birdshot might smart a little!

Last week it was ducks, ducks, ducks. This week its more of the same with plenty of geese in too. Reports from around the area are that the geese are coming in and the hunting has been good along with it. Several of the boys say they have gotten their limit with little sweat. That sounds good after all the bad news about the low quail season.

The high and bright moonlight has slowed down the hunting for geese somewhat because it has set them to night feeding, according to some reports. Just might be. Its due to phase out soon and with the coming cold weather, the geese had better look out.

Richard Pruett says he is going to take advantage of the coming holidays to get in a little serious geese (goose?) hunting. He has been out early for the last several mornings this week looking the situation over.

Frank Thrasher says he and friends have gotten their limits lately on the big birds. Said they worked the area east of Buffalo Lake. They went last Wednesday morning, he said.

We heard via the grape vine that "Snooky" Lindeman, Jack Metcalf, Tony and Charley Burrus and Wayne Sanford have also done all right by the geese hunting, but we didn't manage to run them down long enough to confirm it.

At any rate, there seems to be a pretty good success ratio on the big honkers.

Deer--still fat in the Panhandle though the season here is over. Those going south to other counties are getting some nice ones. Our brother-in-law, John Horton, got a fat eight point white tail in Travis County several weeks ago. We aim to do the same, come Christmas.

Visiting Mrs. G. B. Combs over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Lowe of Gruver, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barker of Amarillo. Mrs. Barker has been ill for several weeks, but her condition was improved enough to allow her to make the short trip here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Benny Cooper are planning to visit his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper, of Tucumcari, New Mexico, during the Christmas holidays.

KEEPING UP WITH THE ARTS

In reading a fashion review in the May issue of The Chautauquan, published in 1895, I can only remark that things seem to have changed, but it seemed rather timely to say the least.

In the library of the New York Historical Society is a picture of the interior of the Park Theater in 1825, during a theatrical performance.

It is really a collection of portraits of prominent citizens of the day, and can be taken as socially typical of the times--and what a contrast it shows to the present! Men of calm, phlegmatic temperament, sound and rather heavy bodies; serious, prosperous faces, solid, respectable men, are assembled.

In our day (1895!) nervous energy, high mental pressure, fast manners of living in business and social life, form just as plainly the characteristic traits of a theater audience. The Park Theater attendants of 1825 wear voluminous neckcloths of white lawn, or broad stocks made of buckram and satin or velvet. Many of them have their hats on, and the universal headgear is great bell-crowned beaver hats.

These hats and other stiff-brimmed, cylinder-crowned, weighty head-coverings held away for many years on the heads of all respectable or respected citizens.

The first blow at the popularity of the stove-pipe hat was in the time of the Mexican war, when a few American men found out the comfort and lightness of weight of the soft head-covering of the Mexicans and Creoles.

A life in California during the gold fever familarized others with these unfashionable but comfortable forms: and then in 1851, Louis Kossuth flashed his brilliant career, into the eyes and brains of adoring Americans, he wore a picturesque soft hat with a feather. Good, sober, dignified business Americans at once adopted the Kossuth hat, but they couldn't stand the feather.

There is no doubt that the fashion for women's dress of the year 1830 was charming though overdone. The completely developed leg-of-mutton sleeve was graceful, but too large; the shoulders were prettily displayed above a line of fine lace but the line was too straight, too horizontal. In evening dress it made the gown appear to be slipping off the shoulders. The nape of the neck was left fully showing (for the hair was drawn up to the top of the head and down in the front in a strained and ugly mode). The wide, full dress skirts were too short, for they displayed the ankles; the lace collarettes and capes were rather narrown narrow and straight. The bodice was too plain; the back of dress was ugly, flat-backed and the straight lines were poor.

Still the modified dress was pretty. Our adoption of these modes is not quite so extreme as their inception. Our leg-of-mutton sleeves are not stiffened with whalebones, and stuffed with down pillows. We have not the same ungainly form of hair-dressing, but in other respects a fashion plate in the Modes for 1831 might well pass for 1894.

My! They did have their problems, too, didn't they?

A POPPIN' GOOD TIME

Children often get ready for Santa long before time for the old gentleman to arrive—and parents are faced with the difficult task of planning some type of indoor entertainment for bored youngsters.

Most any child will be delighted to hear someone say, "It's corn popping time!"

Popcorn has become such a popular snack that producing states have doubled production in recent years and in many homes the holiday scene is not complete until someone gets out the corn popper.

A corn popper isn't necessary, however, as corn may be popped in a broiler or any old pot or pan if one follows the directions on the jar of corn which may be purchased at the neighborhood grocery.

Although popcorn venders prefer large kernels for their machines, smaller kernels are best for home popping. When figuring how much you'll need, allow one ounce of corn for each quart of popped corn.

Popcorn may be served in many ways. For children, you may use toothpicks to make a clown or a snowman. For adults, try seasoning with garlic or onion salt, chili or curry powder, or grated cheese.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Winn are shown here as they sang for entertainment of Lions Club members and their ladies. It was the annual ladies' night affair.

Lions Fete Ladies In Annual Party

Approximately 75 Lions and Lionesses attended the annual Lions Club Ladies Night dinner held last Thursday night at 7 in the American Legion Hall.

The program was presented by Mrs. Raymond Raillard, who read the Christmas story, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Winn, who sang several songs, both popular and with Christmas themes.

Duets were "Two Lost Souls," "The River Is Wide," "This Little Light," "You Make Me Feel So Young," and "The First Noel." Mrs. Winn sang "The Man That Got Away,;: and "Sweet Little Jesus Boy;" and Mr. Winn sang "Come All You Fair and Tender Ladies," and "Nobody Knows The Trouble I've Seen." For an encore, they sang "Silver Bells."

Pictures of the Lions when they were younger were shown, and a contest was held to identify the members.

Special guests were Mrs. Ed Williams and daughter Grace, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dietz, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McDonald. Mrs. Williams daughter played dinner music, and Mrs. Dietz was accompanist for the Winns.

Clarence Eugene Thompson was in charge of the program.

Vocational Training Is Available For Vets

Vocational rehabilitation training has been made available for the first time to veterans who incurred a disability as a result of service in the armed forces during any period of service covered by the Universal Military Training and Service Act by the enactment of PL 87-815, October 15, 1962.

The periods of service included are (1) July 26, 1947, to June 26, 1950, and (2) February 1, 1955, to the present.

Anyone receiving compensation from the government because of a disability incurred during either of these periods may apply for vocational rehabilitation by obtaining VA Form 22-1900 at the Office of the dean of men, West Texas State College, and sending it to the Veterans Administration Regional Office at 511 North Akard Street, Dallas 1, Texas.

Applicants will be provided vocational counseling to ascertain what training they may need to overcome any handicapping effects of their disabilities, and to assist them in making a choice of a future occupation.

Veterans Administration will pay for books, tuition, and a subsistence allowance during the period of training which may be needed for this purpose.

Training will not be provided under this Act for veterans whose disabilities are rated at less than 30 per cent unless they show clearly that the disability causes a pronounced employment handicap.

Canyon Tots Vary On Reason For Christmas

BY GLENNA WILSON

"Why do we have Christmas?" was the leading question asked a number of children between the ages of 3 and 10, during the last two weeks, children from homes of various religious faiths and denominations were interviewed.

"Well,..it's like this..," answered one little girl, "when the toys we have...are just about worn out...then, we have Christmas."

"I need toys...our new baby has toys," declared a three year old. And from a five year old young lady came the answer,"My mother needs a pretty new lamp".

None of the pre-school children interviewed mentioned the birth of Christ without first being prodded with the question, "Whose birthday is Christmas?"

To this, three year olds answered "Jesus"; though there were replies of "Santa Claus"...."My birthday is already been"..."My daddy and me has a birthday too".

All the children seemed to enjoy hearing and talking about the birth of Christ. As one little boy explained it, "He loves even us, and everybody"; while another added, "Yes, and the whole wide world!"

"What's the very nicest thing about Christmas?" brought replies of, "Toys"..."Decorating the tree"..."Eating the turkey" and one five year old girl answered gleefully, "Oh, when it's Christmas...I feel just like a birdie!" But perhaps, the most perfect answer came from a ten year-old girl, who, with a sparkle in her eyes, answered knowingly, "It's the nice warm feeling inside of me... about Jesus.. and everybody."

As for Santa Claus: Most of these children leave something for him to eat on Christmas Eve just as Dutch children fill wooden shoes with food for St. Nicholas's horse, and place them by the door.

"We always leave hot chocolate and candy bars", offered a school age boy. "And does he always eat the candy and drink the chocolate?" "Well, ...they're always gone."

To the query, "How do you suppose Santa will arrive this year?", one four year-old very thoughtfully summed it up like this: "Well...you see, it's pretty cold up there...and I 'spect he'll have to come by helicopter."

Most of the children believe he travels by airplane, unless there's snow on the ground.

One chubby little fellow, not yet three, shook his head and lamented, "I nevva gets to see him...'cause I has to go upstairs to bed!"

Not one of these children knew all the names of Santa's reindeer. In an attempt to name them, a boy of nine, called one, "Nixon"; to which his friend promptly asked, "Are you a Republican?" But another youngster cleared things by explaining, "No, he's a football player."

Two young girls interviewed, are not led to believe in Santa. As the mother explained, "There isn't a Santa...So, why should we teach them that there is?"

But isn't there? Is not Santa a joyous symbol of giving? Is not Christmas a time of singing, family get-togethers, good food, and happy children?

Why do we have Christmas?

Although scholars do not know the exact date of His birth, in all Christian countries, Christmas is celebrated as the birthday of Jesus Christ. And as one little boy explained the bright Christmas lights, "They are symbols of 'The Light,' which is Jesus".

Someone has well said, "If you want the truth, ask a child." Yet, often just before Christmas, a child will question you, "Is there a real Santa Claus? ....answer me, honest and true.

Looking into that little face of one who is ready to cry... you suddenly answer, "Why, yes, dear." And later, you wonder, "why?" Searching your heart for a reason, you discover it's just becuase...you could not deny his existence. For you know there's a Santa Claus!

"But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law"............Gal. 5:22-23

"And visions of sugar plums dance through their heads." These tots seem to be thinking wistfully about Christmas, barber pole candy and Santa Claus. From left are Stanley Cranmer, 3, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Walter Cranmer; Jeff Stritzel, 5, and Jerry Stritzel, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Stritzel; and Becky Anderson, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson.

Animals In Many Christmas Legends

Animals have been featured in many Christmas legends and customs.

An old legend says that on Christmas Eve, as beasts kneel in their stalls, they develop the power of speech—and it is a sin for mere mortals to eavesdrop.

Each year, according to another legend, barnyard animals indulge in a "Holy Supper" on Christmas Eve, in commemoration of the time they helped spread the Joyful Tidings.

In Northern Europe, boys and girls put out food for St. Nicholas' white horse. In Scandinavian countries even the poor save coins to buy sheaves of wheat and barley and bits of suet to place on roofs or trees for the birds. St. Francis of Assissi gave extra food to domestic animals because he wanted all creation to share in yuletide happiness.

Christmas Gifts That Will Last

There are Christmas gifts to make any gardeners green thumb itch. Aside from the ever-popular Poinsettia, the traditional plants that can be wired all over the country during the Yuletide, are cyclamens, oranges and peppers.

Other plants of the season, such as azaleas, chrysanthemums and ivy pyramids, are Yuletide gifts that go on giving throughout the year. They can be enjoyed indoors and later transferred to the yard as lovely additions to any garden.

If you want to delight a gardener who lives on the East Coast, wire him a potted Scotch pine tree. These living Christmas trees are about three feet high. Festooned with baubles and tiny lights, they can add sparkle to the indoors. Transplant them outdoors, to have Christmas all year round.

Two more gifts that are sure hits: prickly, bright blooming holiday cactus and exotic African violets. There are hundreds of varieties of the latter.

For the gentleman gardener: patridge-berry bowls. They grow in glass bulbs, are self watering.

ABOUT ANHYDROUS AMMONIA

Before you decide not to make a plowdown application of anhydrous ammonia on your cotton and grain sorghum land this Fall, hoping that the price will drop in the Spring, there are some very important considerations you should take into account. They all boil down to this: EVEN IF YOU WERE ABLE TO SAVE MONEY ON THE PRICE OF AMMONIA, IT WON'T COVER THE LOSS OF YIELD, (10% OR MORE) YOU WOULD GET BY PLOWING DOWN NOW. WAITING CAN ALSO ADD TO YOUR COST OF SPRING PLOWING AND IRRIGATING.

LET'S LOOK AT THE FACTS ABOUT PLOWDOWN We all know, of course, that the residue turned under with Fall plowing is a storehouse of plant nutrients. But these nutrients are not available to the growing plant until, through bacteriolysis, the residue is decomposed. Decomposition restores the nutrients in the residue to a useable form readily available to the new crop. This takes time. Nitrogen in the form of anhydrous ammonia speeds up the process and assures more complete decomposition by planting time.

TIME, TEMPERATURE AND MOISTURE Time, temperature and moisture are very important in the decomposition process and have a direct bearing on the question of when anhydrous ammonia should best be applied. The correct conditions are more likely in the Fall and early Winter. This means that, given adequate ammonia now, in December and January, the decomposition process can be nearly completed before hard Winter sets in, and is finished quickly when the soil warms up in the Spring.

SOIL CONDITIONING Now let's compare the condition of soil which has had a plowdown application of anhydrous ammonia with soil on which only the traditional Spring preplant application is made. When the seed goes into the ground, if ammonia was not applied in the previous Fall in time to decompose the residue, much of this residue will still be there in the Spring. The young plant, during its critical early growth, must share the Spring-applied nitrogen with the bacteria at work on the residue. Not only must it share the nitrogen, but the young plant is also denied the other nutrients in the undecomposed residue from the previous crop. With decomposition completed, the ammonia applied at preplant time is then totally available to the crop as well as that which was applied in the Fall.

OTHER COST FACTORS With decomposition complete by Spring, the soil itself is in its best physical condition for plowing, seed bed preparation and for taking in and storing water. These factors contribute to lower production cost.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND The high producing farmers who have accepted Fall application of ammonia as standard practice tell us there are many other cost factors involved which have an effect on profits. They say, for example, that since men and equipment are freely available in the Fall, they find Fall application costs less in time and money.

Many good farmers also say they think it's worth money to them to be able to handle application in the Fall so that when the critical time for pre-plant comes, they can have some flexibility instead of getting caught in a shortage of applicators and transportation facilities which usually occur when everybody waits until the last minute to apply ammonia.

They say plowdown now avoids a lot of risks and uncertainties while assuring next season's crop of an abundant supply of essential plant nutrients during its critical early growth.

NITROGEN — THE MAGIC INGREDIENT The key to decomposition of residue and the resulting increase of nutrients available to new plants and improved soil condition is nitrogen. The fertilizer which supplies the most nitrogen per pound, and gives the farmer more for his money, is anhydrous ammonia.

APPLY NOW — PAY LATER Ask your Nitromite dealer about the Shamrock Farm Credit Plan. He has the equipment, manpower and the finance plan to meet your needs for the application of ammonia now. Give one of them a call today. He's ready to help you put nitrogen to work in your soil with SHAMROCK Nitromite.

Why wait? Experience proves you will produce more, make more money by applying ammonia now. Apply Shamrock Nitromite and pay later on Shamrock's Farm Credit Plan.

The conservation farmer of today knows that by planting around the slope, on the contour of the land, water will travel slowly around the hill. This is one of the conservation measures farmers take to protect their land from soil erosion.

Erosion has damaged hundreds of millions of acres of once productive land all over the world. Erosion has taken a terrific toll from formerly rich lands in the United States

The Soil Conservation Service which is an agency of the United States Dept. of Agriculture helps the farmer plan and install conservation farming practices.

When you ask for assistance the SCS technician will make a soil survey of the farm. From the survey he can tell what kind of capability class of land you have. There are thousands of different kinds of soils. Some soils hold water better than others. Some soils erode faster than others. The different colors of soil help to distinguish them.

When the technician has all of the information he needs he plans how the farmer should use each acre. He may decide some land needs terracing, some may need a diversion, or a grassed waterway may be needed.

Water erosion is one of the kinds of erosion. This is usually caused by heavy rains on land that is not properly protected. This can usually be solved by diversions and terraces on the steep land and by having a good cover on all the land.

Wind erosion is another type of erosion. When you have a drought and the land is bare, the wind will cause blowing soil. Stubble mulching has almost ended the wind erosion problem.

Overgrazing grass lands will sometimes cause them to wash and also to blow. The rancher should be careful and not overuse his pastures.

If you need help on your ranch or farm the government can help you financially through the A. S. C. or the Great Plains Program. The S. C. S. will plan your farm or ranch and design, layout, and check the engineering practices.

Parties Highlight Holidays On Campus

Among the many Christmas parties and activities being held at West Texas State College were the girls' dormitory parties held last Thursday night, and the boys' dorm parties this week.

Faculty guests at the Randall Hall formal party were Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Juniper, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Henson, and Dean and Mrs. W. Mitchell Jones.

Following a program of Christmas music, the girls and their dates danced to the music of Ray Ruff of Amarillo, who records for the Norman label, and a group composed of two boys of his band, the Checkmates, and two other boys from WT. Some of the group also played dominoes, cards, and bingo.

After the dance, the girls had a pajama part in the ballroom. Santa Claus and helpers distributed gifts, and sacks of candy, nuts, and fruit to the girls.

Winners of the annual Christmas door decoration contest were announced during the party. First place went to Marsha Crowell, Linda Allison, and Marijohn Moore. Second places were awarded to Linda Allison, Marion Gray, and Evelyn Mitchell.

Cousins Hall also held a formal, semi-formal dance. After the program and refreshments, the girls and their guests danced in the ballroom and played games in the foyer.

When the guests left at 10:30 the girls exchanged gifts and sang Christmas carols at their traditional pajama party.

A pajama party was also held by the girls in Hudspeth Hall at 10:45 after refreshments of ice cream snow balls, punch, and cookies were served, a short program was held. Instead of exchanging gifts, the girls gave toys to one of the Cub Scout troops of Canyon to be distrubted to the needy children here.

A modern Santa Claus appeared at the Brown Hall pajama party dressed in a short skirt and top trimmed in white fur. The girls exchanged gifts and sang Christmas carols.

Cuenther and Terrill Halls both held informal, all-boy parties Monday night. Refreshments were served, and entertainment was provided by some of the boys in the dorm.

Stafford Hall boys entertained their dates at a simi-formal dance and party last night. Music was provided by a band composed of boys from Stafford.

Conner Hall held a semi-formal dance in the Student Union Building Ballroom December 11. The boys and their dates danced to the music of an Amarillo string band.

ABOUT CHRIST

"If Christ is to remain alive in the life of men, eternally present with us, it is absolutely necessary to resuscitate Him from time to time, not to color Him with dyes of the present day, but to represent with new words, with references to things now happening. His eternal truth and His never changing story."

Firemen Receive Equipment

Canyon fire department has received several new pieces of equipment for emergency artificial respiration.

Called resusitubes, the equipment consists of simple tubes with a clear plastic face mask in the middle. They are used in the mouth to mouth type of artificial respiration, offering a measure of sanitation to both the user and the emergency victim.

City fire captain Joe Rice said the resusitubes have been distributed to each of the police and city fire units. They are intended for use in the mouth to mouth artificial respiration by city personnel until the city Emergency Unit can get to the scene of the emergency.

CHS Students May Apply For GE Scholarships

Senior students at Canyon high school are eligible to apply for nearly 400 four-year scholarships offered by General Motors at more than 200 colleges and universities.

There is no restriction on course of study or career. Stipends range from an honorary award of $200 to a maximum of $2,000 per year, depending on demonstrated need.

Participating colleges have full discretion in the awarding of the scholarships. Their scholarship committees review the applicants' high school academic records, available entrance test scores, participation in extra-curricular activities and leadership traits.

Well kids, tomorrow is the last day of school. Most of you school kids will be having your Christmas parties. I'll bet your wondering what you will get from the person who drew your name, aren't you? I am.

I might take a holiday and not write a column over the holidays, but I'm not sure. Merry Christmas and I will see you next year.

RIDDLE

A girl works in a butcher shop. She is 36 and is single. What does she weigh?

Answer to last week's riddle: Four, Just calling a tail a leg doesn't mean it is a leg.

Mrs. Arthur Goodman and Mrs. Gene Read had a program Tuesday. The play is named "Why the Chimes Rang." It is a sort of traditional play and is held every year at about this time. The performances were at ten o'clock and two o'clock.

Yule Tree Needs Water Treatment

Give your Christmas tree the water treatment this year. Tests show that an average spruce tree in a room for 15 days at 70 degrees F. temperature will absorb 23.75 quarts of water through its stump.

Water will keep a Christmas tree fresh, reduce needle drop and make it less a fire hazard.

Before setting up the tree indoors in a water-holding container, peel back an inch or two of the bark of the stump. This will help the tree drink water.

Water Daily

Add water to the container daily. At the same time check the needles for dry-out. A dried out tree becomes a fire danger. In 20 seconds an ignited 12-foot Christmas tree could become charred wood.

Make sure decorations are fireproof. Check last year's tree lights for frayed ends and faulty sockets. Use only appliances that have an official stamp of approval on them. Keep fluffy cotton and other inflammable objects away from tree lights. And—pull out the plug connecting tree lights before you go out or to bed at night.
